

A man with short grey hair, wearing a light-colored textured sweater and blue jeans, is seated in a black motorized wheelchair. He is smiling and holding the hand of a young girl with blonde hair and a colorful headband. The girl is wearing a red dress with white polka dots and white sneakers. They are outdoors in a park-like setting with green trees and a pink structure in the background. The wheelchair has large black tires, a motor, and a control joystick. The man's feet are on the wheelchair's footrests, wearing blue sneakers. The girl is standing next to the wheelchair, her feet also visible. The overall scene is bright and positive, emphasizing independence and mobility.
